KINGJAMES VERSIONBIBLE, HEBREWS11

Hebrews 11 in the King James Version (KJV) Bible begins with a defining statement about faith:

"Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen." (Hebrews 11:1 KJV)

The chapter then gives examples of faith by Old Testament figures, showing how faith enabled them to obtain approval, understand creation, offer sacrifices, and obey God even without seeing the promised outcomes. Notable examples include Abel, Enoch, Noah, and Abraham.

Key verses:

- Faith is essential to please God, as one must believe He exists and rewards those who seek Him (Hebrews 11:6).
- Faith led Noah to build the ark to save his family, condemning the world (Hebrews 11:7).
- Abraham obeyed God's call to go to an unknown land by faith (Hebrews 11:8-10).
- Sarah conceived a child in old age because she judged God faithful (Hebrews 11:11).

The chapter continues with numerous other examples of faith in action, demonstrating great acts and sufferings endured because of faith.[1][2][3][4]
